LAME AND IMPOTENT.

Just as was anticipated the Democrat waited until it had read all the weak and puerile attacks on Peck's report and then puffed out like a balloon the weakest of them. It doesn't treat the report with the dignity it would be expected to treat a document issued by a democratic officer of this state, but attempts to improve upon the meretricious distinctions made by its bogus cable-wired contemporary, the New York World, to show that the New York officer is dishonest and unreliable. As an echo of exploded apologies it may be classed as a questionable success. It is neither logical nor scholarly; much less is fair. With an air of supercilious importance, a pompous turkey-gobbler strut, it informs its readers that it has had the report for nearly two weeks, during which time it had studied it, only to reiterate what all the other democratic papers had published days before. It pretends to discover that Mr. Peck disagrees with himself in his prior reports, but does not add that no democratic paper ever before took enough interest in the matter to correct him. It professes that because he assigned other causes for other results in other years, the cause he assigns this year is not a trustworthy one. It didn't study out the fact that the report covers the first year of the McKinley bill only and that it deals in facts, cold figures, not theories. It other causes operated to produce good results in a given year, it does not follow that another cause will not operate to produce better results in the year following. But the Democrat didn't "study" that. The idle declaration that "not a man has been found to say his wages have been increased" is born of the same desperation that forces rats to desert a sinking ship or a drowning man to clutch at a straw. It is the only way of escape and as it involves a more intricate system for ascertainment of the facts than a census enumeration, the democrats are "playing" it for all it is worth.

MR. BLAIR'S SUGGESTION.

Never was better advice offered to the city of Grand Rapids than is contained in President Blair's report to the board of education. His suggestion that the board be reduced to six or seven members elected or appointed from the city at large is an excellent one. A board composed of twenty-four members is necessarily bulky and unwieldy. Everything can be said against such a system and nothing can be urged in favor of it. The method of electing trustees from the various wards is an encouragement to a sectional and partisan spirit in the workings of the board, and such a spirit deals a death blow to its efficiency. Let the board of education be appointed on the same principle that the other boards are appointed. Its duties are no more responsible and the necessity for more members is no greater. Then let the board devote its undivided attention to the school system as a whole and not to the aggrandizement of any part of it at the expense of the rest. There is no reason why President Blair's suggestion cannot be carried out, and it is an operation it would double the present value of the board of education. His idea that better results would be obtained by electing the superintendent for three years is so plainly evident that it needs no argument to support it and his declaration that the advanced grades in the public schools should not be strengthened at the expense of the primary departments is worthy of careful consideration. There is a too great a tendency on the part of the school superintendents, principals and officers to throw their entire energies at the shrine of the high school and permit the pupils to prepare themselves for it as best they can. There is no easier or better way of raising the standard of the high school than by increasing the efficiency of the primary grades. No matter how competent the corps of instructors or how valuable the superstructure and equipment, creditable work cannot be accomplished in the high school if the preparation in the lower grades has been indifferent. Strengthen the lower grades and you have strengthened the entire educational system from the very first to the last.

PECK'S HARD HEAD.

That rampant democratic organ, The Nation (N. Y.), in an article attempting to ridicule Commissioner Peck and belittle his report upon the effect of tariff on labor and wages, says: "It was evidently put out at this time to damage Mr. Cleveland and to prevent a democratic victory in the nation. If this had not been the object, it would have been withheld until after the election. Any merely scientific aim that had been evolved in the brain of Peck would have been as easily secured two months hence as now. But the political aim could only be accomplished now." This is an open and unqualified confession on the part of The Nation that it was not only willing, but actually desired a suppression of the facts from the voters of the country until it was too late to have their votes influenced by a knowledge of such facts. In the meantime the whole democratic party, led by its great demagogue, Joe Cleveland, would have kept on insisting that the protective tariff did not raise the wages of laboring men, but was a damage to them, and for that reason using them to vote the democratic ticket. What can be said in favor of a party whose only hopes of success rest upon the suppression of facts, and a coordination of falsehood and ignorance? And yet all the acts of the democratic party are done in the name of "reform," which term has been party shibboleth for the last score of years, taught to it by the sage of Cranberry Park, and with which it has sought to hoodwink and deceive the people, and to lead them away from the base of good judgement and reason.

It may be possible that Commissioner Peck's report was received at the Democratic office before it was completed, "nearly two weeks ago," but if it was the Democrat has taken extraordinary pains to conceal the fact. Although it claims to have received it with the adjuration "not to be used before August 29," it is very significant that no paper, either republican or democratic, printed any part of the original report until Wednesday morning, not even the New York papers. And then too it is very unusual for the press agencies from whose offices such reports are generally sent, to telegraph summaries of matter already sent by mail. There is a peculiar odor, like that of muscologne, about the Democrat's story which suggests the presence of an Ananias in the sanctum.

Another ward club has been added to the roster. The third ward republicans organized last evening and will put their energies to the test of active service. There are now four wards organized and the work will proceed until it is finished. The Herald suggests that at the occasion of the state convention of league clubs and of the party in this city September 27, all the ward clubs join in a grand demonstration of strength. It will serve to encourage and enthrone visiting republicans.

According to the latest official figures of the common council, the board of public works and the board of health are about as near a solution of the water question as they were in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and fifty, when the city was incorporated.

Yesterday the board of public works discovered that the occupants of a block are using city water and paying the hydraulic company for it. The city is liable to wake up some morning and find it has been bunched out of the city hall.

Two more ships have arrived at New York bearing cholera patients on board. The health officers have taken adequate measures to prevent its spread and no case has yet been reported from the city itself.

Tomorrow the workmen of this city will have a fete day. The city will be turned over to them for the quiet and orderly celebration that has grown to be one of the chief events of the year.

PASSIONATE HARRISON'S message will be made public in time for the Tuesday morning papers. It will be welcome news to the evening papers for it will save them any amount of trouble.

No Polish Literature Yet.

The committee to whom was referred the petition of Polish citizens for books published in the Polish language to be placed in the library, asked further time in which to consider the matter, and its request was granted.

The committee on buildings recommended George C. Gibbs for appointment as janitor of the North City avenue school building at a salary of $6 per week. The same committee, owing to the greatly increased labor of the superintendent of buildings since May, recommended that the salary be paid to Mr. Barnaby in addition to his August salary, also that $25 per month be paid for each of the four succeeding months in addition to his regular monthly salary, to be paid from the contingent fund. Adopted.

The committee on buildings also recommended that $100 be paid to Mr. Barnaby in addition to the purchase of 49,950 tablets at a cost of $3 per thousand, at a total cost of $149.55; also, that the superintendent be authorized to expend not to exceed $30 for reference books for use at the Union school; also, that kindergarten books to the amount of $25.93 be purchased for the Grandville avenue, Fountain street and Henry street schools. Adopted.

Bids for the school funds were submitted by several banks and the one submitted by the Grand Rapids Savings bank was accepted at $100 per annum. Its cashier, F. A. Hall, was elected treasurer of the board with bonds at $250,000.

President Blair's Report.

President Blair submitted his fourth annual report to the board as follows: To the Board of Education of the City of Grand Rapids:

I have the honor to submit my fourth annual report as president of this board. And it is a matter of no little pleasure to me to call your attention in general way to the capabilities and needs of a system of public education which now holds unquestioned recognition in the first grade of city school systems. I refer you for more detailed accounts concerning the matters here suggested to the reports of the superintendent, the secretary and of the various committees. I quote from my report of last year:

"We have thirty-two buildings under our charge containing 330 rooms and 14,000 students. In addition to this we are at the present time renting fourteen rooms. It would be a saving to the city and a benefit to the children attending to build suitable buildings for the accommodation of this ever-flowing stream of pupils. The construction of eight-story buildings on the Washington side, the Eighth ward site, Hall street site, to be completed by September 1, 1922, with comfortable public rest rooms and judgment the board has gone about these matters and we can congratulate ourselves that these buildings are in process of preparation and construction."

I wish to repeat and emphasize the recommendations in my last report that the new high school building supply accommodations for manual training and commercial training. The high school building without such accommodations will in a few years at the outside be an incomplete building. It demands our attention now. We still need provisions for systematic kindergarten work for beginners in all the schools of the city. A serious injury is done to our whole school system if the demands of primary instruction are in any way neglected. The school year, as hitherto constituted, contained forty weeks, but it was seen that the best results were not attained by extending the school year so far into the hot season, and the year has been with good effect, and we hope good judgment, shortened to thirty-eight weeks. I again recommend what I have so often brought to your attention, that the question of diminishing the number of trustees be considered, and the law amended so as to bring about this change during the next session of the legislature.

Reduce the Board.

The present unwieldy size of the board might be reduced with a gain to unity, harmony of action and general efficiency. If the board consisted of six members elected from the city at large and for a term of three years instead of two, I renew with increased emphasis my recommendation of last year, that the superintendent be elected for three years instead of one, with provision that he be re-elected if found to be of sufficient cause. It could in no way be disadvantageous to the interest of our schools, but would give the management a sense of greater permanency than is guaranteed by the present system. A school system of such dimensions as ours requires a management that the management have in view not months alone, but years, in the measures and methods set on foot for the benefit of the schools. In the light of this fact, are we not acting unwisely in limiting the interest of the management to the certainty of but one year? In closing I express my satisfaction in the present harmony that prevails in this board and my steadily increasing confidence in the present management of our schools."

The report was accepted and ordered printed in the proceedings of the board. The board then adjourned.

ENDORSES DR. BRADFIELD.

Mr. Stanton Withdraws From the Race in His Favor.

To My Friends and Voters of the Third Ward:

I noticed in the Friday evening and also in the Saturday morning papers, my name mentioned as a candidate for member of the school board of this city. While I am not without my heartfelt appreciations of the efforts of those friends that have solicited my candidacy for the very responsible position, I feel that I cannot allow my name to come before the people for the office of trustee for the reason that the present incumbent of that position, as a member of the teachers' committee has proven himself very efficient, and as the member and chairman of the building committee he has shown that he has the welfare of the children very near his heart, as he planned and carried into execution many marked improvements in the school buildings that have been so thoroughly overhauled this season. Special care has been given to the very important matter of light, ventilation and general sanitary conditions, and never before in the life of this city has the school buildings been in such condition as now, and all of this can be traced to the untiring efforts of Dr. Bradfield, the present incumbent of the office. I believe if he is elected he will continue to do his duty to the satisfaction of the board and schools have all been performed without pay, and with but one motive, the perfection of the schools and the proper buildings for our little ones to study in. Such men are rare and should not be lost in the matter of the great reform school system of this country to allow my name to oppose so good a man as Dr. Bradfield, and my friends will please me far better by voting for him than they could in voting for me. Thanking you kindly for your confidence reposed in me, I am,

Yours for the schools,

ELMER E. STANTON.

Resigned His Position.

Miss Hattie M. Bailey, for the past four years principal of the Madison avenue school and one of the most efficient teachers in the city, has resigned her position and will devote the next two years to advanced work in the University of Michigan. Her successor has not been elected.

Mr. Potter Resigned.

Myron A. Potter, a democratic supervisor of Oakdale township has resigned and Edward H. Jones, republican, has been appointed to fill the vacancy. Mr. Potter had been a member of the board of supervisors for the past three years, and is now to return to Rockford.

HONOR TO THE MAN

The Kent County Bar Association Pays High TRIBUTE TO E. S. EGGLESTON

It Adopts Resolutions Expressing Honor, Esteem and Reverence to His Memory—Individual Testimonials.

The Kent County Bar association, represented by thirty-six members, met in Judge Grove's court room yesterday afternoon to take formal recognition of the death of the Hon. E. S. Eggleston, who for many years was an esteemed member of the Kent county bar. Judge Adit was elected to preside over the meeting, and Charles M. Wilson was called to act as secretary. Mr. Wilson stated that upon request W. W. Taylor had prepared resolutions respecting the death of Mr. Eggleston, and asked that Mr. Taylor be asked to submit them. Mr. Taylor, with an appropriate introduction, read the following resolutions:

God, in his providence, has seen fit to take from the midst of his friends Ebenezer S. Eggleston.

The bar of Kent county, owing to the sudden death of Mr. Eggleston, cannot fully realize the great loss in the link which connected him with that bar of Kent county which, including his own, has furnished so many distinguished names to the jurisprudence of the state of Michigan.

We recognize the fact that Mr. Eggleston belonged to that school of lawyers, whose training was based upon careful, thorough and conscientious study of the fundamental principles of law. To him his profession was more than a mere matter of business; it was an art, a science, and more than all, a profession sacred to the public.

Self-taught, with limited opportunities for classical education, reared in poverty, he had that about him in his mental and moral make-up, so that "child penury could not repress his noble rage, and freeze the genial current of his soul," and he came about that he became the associate and equal of a Withey and a Gray, associated with them in business and in legal reputation.

In the midst of his mental and physical vigor he fulfilled, as counsel to the bar, the duties of a public officer, and a sure and certain avenue to professional and financial success, the most difficult position of counsel to Cadiz, Spain.

Having filled that position with modest, but with distinguished and most fruitful success, he was called to the office of public officer, and he returned to resume his practice at the Kent county bar in 1885, and at once resumed a leading position as an advocate, attorney and counsel.

Every position of public or private trust that Mr. Eggleston was called upon to discharge the duties of, was by him duly filled, the trust faithfully discharged, and his record as a man and an attorney more than justified, in the autumnal fruitage, the spring promise of his earlier years.

In Mr. Eggleston's bar of Kent county lost the last link that bound the bar of Kent county with those pioneer lawyers who made the bar of western Michigan and of Kent county, conspicuous in the field of the law.

Paterson, Withey, Gray, Rood, Chilver, and now Eggleston have passed away.

Therefore resolved by the bar of Kent county, that it is with feelings of profound sorrow that we hear and chronicle the death of Honorable Ebenezer Seymour Eggleston, a valued citizen, an able lawyer, a distinguished and faithful public officer, and a true friend of those honored and blessed with his friendship.

And be it further resolved that the courts of record of this city and county, the supreme court of the state, and the federal state circuit and district courts of the western district of Michigan, be requested to order these resolutions spread at large upon their respective records.

Biography of Mr. Eggleston.

After having read the resolutions Mr. Taylor gave a brief biography of the deceased. He began by referring to the fact that Mr. Eggleston was a life-long struggle with the hardships of life and his indomitable energy. He paid a pretty tribute to Mr. Eggleston's public service and his ability as a lawyer. At the close of his remarks the speaker moved the adoption of the resolutions.

The resolutions were supported by George H. White, who feelingly referred to the life and character of the deceased. He had been acquainted with Mr. Eggleston since 1884 and always found him to be more willing to forgive an injury than to inflict one. The history of Mr. Eggleston and his connection with the bar is well known to the residents of this city. He was a kind father and a model husband, always kind and indulgent. On motion of Mr. Taylor the chairman appointed committees to present the foregoing resolutions to the various courts, the time to be determined by the respective courts to suit their convenience.

Er. Judge Champlin, in supporting the resolutions, said that perhaps he was better acquainted with Mr. Eggleston than any lawyer in the city. He knew him as a man of great natural ability.

Judge Champlin was followed by D. E. Corbett and J. E. McIlrath, who spoke with feeling and tender emotion. The resolutions were then adopted and Judge Adit appointed the following committees to present them to the various courts:

Supreme Court—The Hon. J. W. Champlin, Jacob Klemmas, T. J. O'Brien.

Superior Court—W. W. Taylor, M. H. Walker, I. M. Turner.

Circuit Court—George H. White, J. E. McIlrath, E. A. Vanhook, D. E. Corbett, John E. Moore, Thomas F. Corbett.

IMMENSE CROWDS

Will Attend the Maccabees Encampment Here Next Year.

To the efforts of Oscar Allen, a prominent member of the order of Maccabees in this city, is due the success of Grand Rapids in securing the next annual convocation of the great camp of the K. O. T. M. In speaking about the matter last night Mr. Allen said: "The people of this city have a little conception of what the camp will be like at that time. On Tuesday at Detroit there were fully 50,000 Maccabees who came from different parts of the state."

At a caucus held in the Seventh ward last night to nominate a candidate for school trustee E. L. Johnson was elected chair of the caucus, J. E. McIlrath, secretary, and W. B. Folger, treasurer. The caucus was held at the home of Mr. Johnson, who was nominated to be the next school trustee.

Lincoln Club Opening.

The formal opening of the Lincoln High school club room will be held Thursday night, when General Clough will speak upon the political issues of the present campaign. Every republican in Grand Rapids should be present, not only to hear an eloquent address, but to become members of the club.

Nominating Folger.

There were 300 delegates besides 400 delegates to the Ladies' Great Bazaar. If the order increases in the same proportion next year as it did last year we may expect 50,000 or 70,000 members here at the next meeting. The order in this state last year increased 10,000 members and the subordinate lodges numbered nearly 500. The number of visitors to Detroit far exceeded their expectations and they were bothered to provide accommodations for them. Alpena made a big effort to get the next meeting, but through the assistance of the city officials and the board of trade we were successful. We shall begin early to make preparations for the event and will entertain the visitors with every accommodation."

HORSE-BREEDERS' MEETING.

Excellent Sport Promised at This Week's Trotting Events.

C. S. Clark of Mason, assistant secretary of the Michigan State Horse-breeders' association, is in the city making preparations for the coming race meeting, which will be held at Comstock park September 6, 7 and 8. In conversing with a reporter for THE HERALD Mr. Clark said:

"We were offered $1,000 by citizens of Saginaw to hold our meeting at that place, but we believed this to be the better place for a race meeting. In our three-day meeting we are going to show Grand Rapids some very fine young horses, and we expect some good time will be made by the colts."

S. A. Browne of Kalamazoo, the president of the association, has been entered, and the entry list contains the names of nearly 100 youngsters with a good mark. This is our eighth annual meeting and many of the horses that first made their appearance under the auspices of the society have since won some of the best races in the state. Many promising youngsters that are entered here will be driven to new marks."

"In the three days' meeting we are going to have twelve races, which are as follows: Tuesday, a yearling trot for $270, with seven entries; 2-year-olds trot, open to all Michigan-bred 3-year-olds, for a purse of $280, with seven entries; a trot open to all Michigan-bred 2-year-olds, with five entries; and a 2:20 pace, with eight horses in it. On the second day 3-year-olds foaled in Michigan and the products of Michigan-bred mares will go. Five horses are entered in that race. There will be a 2:50 class pace for $400, with seven horses entered, and a 2:40 trot, with twelve entries, and a trot open to all 2-year-olds owned in Michigan, irrespective of parentage. There are four entries in that."

"On Thursday, the last day, are the trots open to all Michigan-bred 4-year-olds, 2-year-olds trot, 3-year-olds trot, and a 2:30 trot."
